Dear future student at EUR,

Next year you will be studying at Erasmus University Rotterdam (EUR). A new study brings many changes. The aim of the Eurekaweek is to ensure that all prospective students are welcomed as well as possible in the city of Rotterdam. All these changes can be quite a challenge, and we are going to help you with that. From the EUR we organize the official introduction week for all new students at the EUR: The Eurekaweek. This week will take place from Monday 21 to Thursday 24 August 2023. As a new student, we cordially invite you to participate in the Eurekaweek.

Together with two guides and a group of about 15 students from your study, you follow an extensive program of several days. Together with more than 4600 other students you will get to know Rotterdam, the university and student life in a short time. During the Eurekaweek you will meet many new people and fellow students. It is therefore the ideal start to your student days in Rotterdam! So, buy your ticket as soon as possible via our website!

The Eurekaweek collaborates with more than 90 different cultural, international, study, sports, student, and other associations. During the week you will have the opportunity to get to know each of them and figure out which association suits you best! Of course, you don't have to become a member, during the Eurekaweek you are free to go wherever you want.

The theme of the Eurekaweek 2023 is "One of a Kind". Although we are all students at the same university, everyone is different. Some students are born in Rotterdam, while others come to this city for the first time during the Eurekaweek. Some students already have their future mapped out, while for others it is still a great mystery. Whatever similarities students might have, one thing is for sure: You are all One of a Kind!

We hope to see you next summer. Do you have any questions, or would you like more information? Check out our website: www.eurekaweek.com
